U. S. CLERKS' JOBS NOW ARE MENACED

About 1,000 National Guardsmen Face Loss of Salaries and Civil Service Status.

MAY RESULT FROM CALL TO SERVICE WITH MILITIA

Only Executive Order by President or Legislation by Congress Can Remedy Situation.

About 1,000 employes of the govern ment in this city face loss of jobs, salaries and civil service status because as members of the District National Guard, they are forced to respond for duty on the Mexican border.

Unless Congress, by legislation, takes some action, or the President issues ar executive order protecting the rights of the government employes, they may return to Washington after their term o service in the Mexican campaign i ended to find their desks occupied by employes who have been taken on to fill vacancies.

There seems no provision in any law There seems no provision in any law. past or present, which would assure such payment of salary during such absence from civic duty on transfer to actual military service. While there seems a general sentiment favoring consideration for federal government and District of Columbia clerks who undertake this military duty to provide that their salaries shall go on for the provision of those they leave behind, the legal machinery does not seem provided.

Up to Congress Alone.

ing the occupation of Vera Cruz by the Americans, and again was put in force Vhile members of Congress are inquiring whether private employers of abor will undertake to keep jobs open and pay salaries during absence from such mercantile duties for those of their employes who answer the call to arms, the government clerks and officials are suggesting that legislation immediately be introduced and passed to permit the government to show a like consideration.

Spanish War Situation.

Before the Spanish-American war here was on the statute books the law of March 1, 1889, providing that emloyes of the federal government and of the government of the District of Columbia, members of the National Guard of the District of Columbia, should not lose pay por time for partic-ipation in parade or encampment. Sec-tion 80, act of June 3, 1916, just en-acted, slightly elaborates this pro-vision:

acted, slightly elaborates this provision:

"All officers and employes of the United States and of the District of Columbia who shall be members of the National Guard shall be entitled to leave of absence from their respective duties without loss of pay, time or efficientcy rating on all days during which they shall be engaged in field or coast defense training, ordered or authorized, under the provisions of this act."

act."

If it were possible for the proper officials of the government to construe active service in the field as "training," within the meaning of this act, there is hardly doubt that it would be done. But in entering active service the individual alters his status from a civilian, and is actually in the military service of the United States. Such construction seems impossible.

Provisions of Act of 1903. The act of January 21, 1908 (82, Stat

(6), provides that "The militia, when alled into the actual service of the Inited States, shall, during their time of service, be entitled to the same pay nd allowances as are or may be proand allowances as are or may be provided by law for the regular army." It says nothing about the pay for the job abandoned back home.

The recently enacted law providing that no government employe shall draw two salaries in excess of $3,000, from government appropriations can hardly be applied, in the opinion of the experts of government accounts. In this case, one of the jobs is not being attended to, and no legal leave can cover the absence from duty.

Large increases in the force of all the executive departments, especially the War Department, will have to be made immediately to meet the situation caused by the sudden increase of the military forces and the preparations for probable hostilities. That is in addition to the necessity of supplying the places of the employes attached to the District National Guard or other militia organizations. Secretary Baker conferred with Chief Clerk Scofield today regarding the probable necessities of the elerical situation. As a result Congress will be asked to authorise the employment at once of about 200 additional clerks to meet the sudden extra demands on the bureaus of the department. Most of these are required to keep up ourrent work in the offices of the surgeon general.

It may be necessary until the matter s adjusted to compel clerks remaining on the job to work overtime, as already s the case in the ordnance bureau. The question of hold-ing the jobs open for these men is an important one which they believe Con-gress or the President should adjust at President Cannot Decree War on Mexico.

President Wilson cannot declare war on Mexico. Only Congress has that power. Nor could the administration begin aggressive operations without congressional authority.

Use of the troops on the oorder and in Mexico for "defensive" purposes has been au-thorized. Gen. Pershing's ex-pedition is a "defensive" move, it is said, and by a similar construction any portion of the National Guard, once it has been brought into the federal service and lost its militia status, also could be employed in Mexican territory.

WILL GRANT LEAVE

Commissioners' Concession to District Employes Who Respond to Duty's Call.

Leaves of absence are to be granted employes of the District government who are called into active service as nembers of the National Guard, according to an order of the District Commissioners issued today. The em ployes will be given leave without pay and will be restored to their positions upon their return whenever such res toration can be accomplished without detriment to the District service. The Commissioners announced that this policy was adopted in 1914, follow oday.

In a letter from Gen. William E. Harvey, and received by the Commission would be granted a furlough, and whether they would be reinstated, he tent of his stomach, he had been in the worst kind of mischief, and he knew it. But it hadn't got him into trouble, and so, I am sorry to say, he didn't care in fact, he was planning to get into the same kind of mischief the very next night. He was in high spirits, was Peter, as he set out in the moonlight across the Green Meadows toward the dear Old Brier Patch. In the first place, his stomach was full almost to bursting—an uncomfortable yet in a way a very comfortable feeling. I guess you know how it is. In the second place, he had got into no trouble, and so far as he could see he was not likely to get into any trouble on the way wack. Reddy Fox was still over in the Old Pasture trying to get rid of the dreadful perfume Jimmy Skunk had thrown on him. Old Granny Fox was nowhere to be seen, and neither was Old Man Coyote. He had just heard itooty the Owl hoot way over in the Green Forest, and Bowser the Hound bark up in Farmer Brown's dooryard. So the way back to the dear Old Brier Patch was clear and there was no need of hurrying. like consideration.

Something of the kind is expected to be done. The suggestion has been made that the President might have the authority by executive order to grant extraordinary leave to such government employes as answer the call to arms. The law confining leave to thirty days in each year, with the rulings of various authorities, is interpreted by officials to indicate the impracticability and illegality of any such procedure by the President.

During the Spanish-American war federal employes who volunteered were not accorded the pay for the civil service they abandoned to serve their country in the field. The question seems never to have been raised in any accounts presented to the office of the controller of the Treasury, final arbiter of all federal accounts. Such employes, however, were taken back into the civil service without loss of place or record.

Silver Spring Militiamen Prepare to Go to Camp at Laurel.

The armory of Company K, 1st Regiment, Maryland National Guard, at Silver Spring, Md., was a busy place today with militiamen hurrying about getting things in readiness to start for morning. Officers of the company were busy enrolling newly enlisted men, many applicants having reported to the armory this morning.

This morning Company K had an en-rollment of sixty-five men, but by to-night it is believed the number will be swelled to 100. Richard Clayton is captain of the company and Brook Lee, son of Senator Lee of Maryland, is first lleutenant. Frank L. Hewitt is second lleutenant.

Every few hops he stopped to lie down. But he didn't dare stop long. He must reach the Old Brier Patch. It wouldn't do to be too sick to move until he did reach there. How he did wish he had kept away from Farmer Brown's garden! He knew it was what he had eaten that had made him so ill. He thought it was because he had eaten too much. Still he had been sick from eating too much before, but never anything like this.

"I'll never, never go there again," sobbe! Peter as he struggled on. Would he never reach the dear Old Brier Patch. He began to be very much afraid that he wouldn't. But he did. It seemed to him that it had taken him all night to get there, though, of course, it hadn't, when at last he crawled in under the friendly bramble bush at the entrance to one of his private little paths and just dropped right down there panting and feeling very, very bad indeed.
